Professional Summary

Driven by a passion for operational excellence and sustainable development, I am a Hospitality Professional and F&B Manager bridging the gap between traditional service and data-driven management. With a solid foundation in restaurant operations and inventory control, I leverage my expertise in Business Analytics and digital marketing to drive efficiency, maximize margins, and enhance customer experiences.

Having completed the Diploma in Sustainable Tourism Management at UNED, I am now pursuing the Bachelor's degree to deepen my expertise in eco-conscious strategies that align profitability with long-term environmental responsibility. My technical toolkit includes advanced Excel automation, KPI analysis, and digital strategy, which I use to transform complex data into actionable business insights.

I thrive in fast-paced environments where service standards, process optimization, and team development intersect. I am always looking to connect with professionals in the tourism and hospitality sector who are passionate about data-informed decision-making and sustainable innovation.
